

Lisa J. Cines, CPA serves as Aronson & Company's Managing Officer. She joined the Firm in 1982 and has spent over 25 years in the industry. Lisa earned her Bachelor's Degree in Accounting from the University of Maryland in 1981.

As the firm's top executive, Lisa is responsible for the definition and implementation of strategic initiatives and operational directives for the entire company. Prior to being voted in as Managing Officer, she served as an officer in A&C's Government & Technology Services Group, specializing in accounting, tax and consulting services with a special emphasis on implementing high level business plans and strategies.

Because of her reputation within the profession, Lisa is frequently asked to make presentations to banking institutions, government contractors, and executives. Lisa has also provided articles for various trade publications and is sought by the media to provide expert commentary regarding issues in the accounting field. In 2008, she served as a panelist at a Treasury Department Subcommittee meeting in Washington, D.C., created to consider and develop recommendations relating to the sustainability of the auditing profession

Lisa is an active participant in a large number of industry organizations as well as community groups. In 2006, Lisa was named to the Board of Directors of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) after previously having served on the AICPA Council. Her efforts have been recognized by several media and industry outlets and, in 2005, she was named one of the Washington Business Journal's "25 Women Who Mean Business."

Lisa currently serves as North American Chairperson of Praxity and she is a member of both the Board of Directors of Junior Achievement and the Executive Committee of the Greater Washington Initiative. Lisa also lends her expertise and dedication to the MACPA Accounting Education & Career Task Force and the University of Maryland Accounting Department.

Dale Cyr Bio

Dale Cyr is the Chief Executive Officer and Executive Director of ARDMS, located in Rockville, Maryland, which is an examination development organization (non-profit) that awards globally recognized credentials to physicians and sonographers in all clinical areas of medical ultrasound and provides credentialing consulting services to other medically-based groups. ARDMS is one of the few credentialing organizations in the world that hold the ISO 17024 accreditation.

Dale has an MBA in corporate finance from the Albers School of Business and Economics, Seattle, WA and has earned the certified association executive (CAE) from the American Society of Association Executives (ASAE).

Albert Lampert

Mr. Albert Lampert is President of Discovery Logic, an informatics company in Rockville, MD. He is responsible for operations, strategic direction and corporate planning for the company. He also serves on the company's Management Committee and is a Member of the Board of Directors.

Prior to joining Discovery Logic, Mr. Lampert served as President and Chief Executive Officer of Aspen Systems Corporation, an information management company that was acquired in 2006 by Lockheed Martin. He is a founding director of Rockville Economic Development, Inc., and serves as the President of the REDI Board.

Mr. Lampert received a B.S. in accounting from Northeastern University and an M.B.A. from Boston University.

Paul F. Love

Paul Love is Vice President of Foster, Soltoff & Love, Ltd. He specializes in business, financial and employee benefit planning. His company serves over 300 businesses and 1,500 individuals in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area and nationally.

Paul is a Chartered Life Underwriter, Chartered Financial Consultant and has a Certification in Long Term Care. He began his career in 1972 and co-founded Foster, Soltoff & Love in 1986.

His business emphasis is in the area of estate and business planning for emerging to mid-sized companies. He counsels clients on estate and personal financial planning, employee benefits, qualified and non-qualified retirement plans and business succession planning.

He is a member of the National Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors, the Society of Financial Services Professionals and the Million Dollar Round Table. He has served in leadership roles in a number of industry and insurance company advisory committees.

Active in his community, Paul is Past President of the Rockville, Maryland Chamber of Commerce, a founder and Vice President of Rockville Economic Development, Inc. and is Chairman of the High Technology Council of Maryland Human Resources Steering Committee. He was a 1997 recipient of the UJA Federation of Greater Washington "Make A Difference" award.

He has written articles for the Legal Times of Washington, Washington Business Journal, The National Underwriter, Financial Planning magazine, The Washington Post and Caregiver magazine.

Paul lives in Rockville, Maryland and has two grown daughters.

Paul D. Newman

Paul Newman is an Associate Director of Computer Systems and Applications at Westat. He has more than 25 years of experience in the application of computer systems and technology in business and survey research. Mr. Newman leads programs in systems and data security, software selection and configuration, and strategic planning for workstation standards and evolving capabilities. He has taught classes and presented papers nationally on management, best practices, emerging technologies, help desk operations, and staffing. Mr. Newman's experience also includes more than 10 years of directing, managing, or supporting research projects in the fields of operations research, organization and management, workforce and workgroup productivity, and implementation of new technologies.

Mr. Newman has a Master's in Engineering and Operations Research from Virginia Tech, and a Bachelor's degree in Psychology from Muhlenberg College. He served more than six years as an officer of the Capital Area Chapter of the Help Desk Institute.

Mr. Newman served three terms as Chairman of the Town Center Action Team, a citizen-organized coalition of residents and stakeholders that serves as a conduit for gathering informal public input, discussing concerns, and disseminating information about Rockville's town center. He has served four terms as president of his homeowner's association and is a lifetime member of Peerless Rockville. He has worked in Rockville for 27 years, and lived in the City of Rockville (in three different Rockville neighborhoods) for more than 25 years.

He has been a Director of Rockville Economic Development, Inc. for 10 years.

Steven A. Silverman

Steven Silverman was appointed by Montgomery County Executive Isiah Leggett as Director of the Montgomery County Department of Economic Development in April 2009. Just prior to his appointment, Silverman served as Director for Aging, Healthcare and Special Projects in the Office of the Maryland Attorney General. From January 2007 through July 2008, he also served in the Office of the Maryland Attorney General as Staff Assistant Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division before being named Chief, Consumer Protection Division in April 2007.

He served as a member of the Montgomery County Council for two consecutive terms between 1998 and 2006, serving as its president twice and as Chair of the Planning, Housing and Economic Development Committee and Member of the Health and Human Services Committee.

Silverman received a B.A. from the American University (School of Government and Politics) and a J.D. from The George Washington University School of Law. He served as a co-chair of the Silver Spring Redevelopment Steering Committee (1998) which was instrumental in the revitalization of Downtown Silver Spring. Silverman also served as chairman of the Greater Silver Spring Chamber of Commerce and as Attorney and Partner, Silverman and Schild from 1981 through 1999.

He has served on the Board of Directors of several area organizations, including American ORT, Jewish Community Center of Greater Washington, Non-Profit Village and Washington Area Housing Trust Fund. He has also been recognized for his professional and community service by numerous professional and community based organizations, including Family Learning Solutions, the League of Korean Americans of Maryland, Mobile Medical Care, the Montgomery Coalition for the Homeless, Rebuilding Together and the Washington Council of Agencies.

Silverman lives in Silver Spring, Maryland with his son Jordan, who attends Paint Branch High School.