

Debbie Dwyer

Debbie Dwyer is a lifetime resident of Rockville. She has been a prosecutor for 20 years in both Montgomery County and United States Attorney General's Office where, over time, she has developed significant negotiation and mediation skills. Ms. Dwyer has volunteered for several community organizations that include homeowner's associations, civic associations. She has lectured at Montgomery County Public Schools on topics ranging from the court's prosecution efforts to the local and state criminal justice system. Ms. Dwyer has also helped to bring awareness to people about the quality of life for older adults through her frequent lectures at the Montgomery County OASIS program. In addition to her skills, Ms. Dwyer has a personal knowledge of the city, and wishes to give back to a city that she has enjoyed for all of her life. She has been a member of the Human Rights Commission since 2008.